Scene 2. The same, a few weeks later

The Story tells how King Eurystheus imposed on Heracles for his ninth labour the task of wresting from proud Queen Antiope her glittering royal belt, most prized possession of her fierce subject amazons.

The play begins with the arrival of Heracles and his fleet at the beetling city of Themiscyra and standing upon the prow with Theseus, his good comrade, Heracles takes his first sight of the enemy stronghold....

The Society always welcomes enquiries for new members and anyone interested should attend the next play reading on Monday 20th February 1978 at 8 p.m. in the Memorial Hall.
